

Health Insurance for Immigrants.

Health coverage allows you to see doctors or go to the hospital when you get sick and it protects your family from high medical costs. Immigrants can get health coverage in New Mexico. New Mexico residents qualify for free or discounted insurance based on income. Legally residing immigrants can qualify for premium discounts at BeWell.

PUBLIC CHARGE: Public charge is a test to see if someone applying for a green card or a visa is likely to use public benefits. Public Charge never applies to health care subsidies you may receive through the Exchange, Medicaid received by children, 21 years and younger and pregnant women, refugees, asylees, victims of trafficking, victims of domestic violence and other serious crimes, special immigrant juvenile status and others. Contact an immigration attorney if you have questions.

Emergency Medicaid Services For Non-Citizens (EMSNC) is available to cover the costs of emergencies for individuals who are not eligible for Medicaid due to their immigration status.
